

Iron County Register

R. D. AKE, : : : : : EDITOR.
VOLUME XVIII. NUMBER 45

IRONTON, MO.,
THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1885.

John A. Logan was yesterday re-elected U. S. Senator from Illinois.

The wicked St. Louis reporters appear to have gotten hold of Bro. Foley.

The late frosts have greatly damaged the water-melon crop of the South-east. Thus Nature erects another barrier to King Cholera's proposed tour through the Land of Liberty and roller rinks.

An Iowa printer has quit the "art preservative" and gone to preaching. He ought to succeed if their be any truth in the doctrine that grace and better judgment result upon the experience of adversity.

The late Legislature abolished the law permitting the granting of "wine and beer licenses." This is right. The county court of this county for more than six months has acted upon that doctrine, and the result has been good.

A member of the mob who hung the Taylor boys recently in Green county, for horse and mule-stealing, put up a notice on the tree whereon the bodies were suspended, which read: "Don't fool with the wrong end of a mule,"—meaning of course the end to which the halter is affixed. We ask, then, in Heaven's name, which is the right end?

Bro. Clardy, of the Plaindealer, has had a "racket" with a man named Horn, simply because the P.-D. gave an account of a difficulty between said Horn and the town marshal. There are few men who do not "kick" if their violations of law are held up to the public view, but they are not, as a class, dangerous to any persons except their friends and equals.

Hon. Jefferson Davis Storts, erst-while of Shannon, late of St. Louis, and now "on the road," is canvassing for a patent process for preserving fruit. Some ladies of St. Louis who have great "influence" with the susceptible Hon. Jefferson D., prevailed upon him to abandon the serving of writs of ouster and go into the preserving trade. We trust he may have better success and pleasanter experience with the matrons of the country than he had with the tergiversants of the city.

"The ~~23~~" of the girl of the is small, tapering and artistically modeled, her hair like the ~~23~~, and she is without a ~~23~~. Her frown is a ~~23~~ to the heart, and her figure excites ~~23~~ of surprise, and longings to ~~23~~ her." Thus says the editor of the Vallesia Review. He should have added a ~~23~~ stating her tongue is like a ~~23~~; that she wears her bangs in ~~23~~, is full of ~~23~~; the temperature of her heart is 40 deg. below 0; she never earned a ~~23~~ and is not worth a ~~23~~.—Clarinda Herald.

If this be 0 defamation without ~~23~~, how much a young man who marries nowadays h~~23~~.

St. Francis county has a surplus of $16,000 in her treasury—$6,000 of which has accumulated during the year just closed. The county court has reduced the levy for county purposes this year from forty to twenty cents on the hundred dollars, yet this will give an additional surplus of $2,000 by the end of the year. Since our neighbor won't build a courthouse or do any other rational necessary thing with the money, we suggest she donate it some of her "great calamity" burdened sisters in the southern end of the State. They are scooping in all such plums—and boasting all the while of their superior advantages over all other sections.

Poplar Bluff Citizen: "Robert Henry's residence, located two miles west of town on the Van Buren road, was discovered to be in flames last Thursday morning about 9 o'clock. Mr. Henry was in the field at work at the time and his wife was in the house confined to the bed from illness. Soon as the fire was observed, Henry and a hired man ran to the house, but were too late to save it. It was completely enveloped in flames when they reached it, and very few of their goods were gotten out of the burning building. The building and contents were insured for $600. Mr. Henry is temporarily stopping in one of his outbuildings."

Doniphan Prospect-News: "The same old story of 'shot for a turkey' was reported last Friday, and Esqr. J. W. Webb was the one who came near losing his life in the operation. The Squire was out with his fowling piece trying to 'gobble up' a turkey, and a son of Mr. Ben Purdam was out on the same business. The Squire, whether proficient enough in the art of calling or not to deceive a turkey, at least succeeded in fooling the boy, and was rewarded by receiving a load of turkey shot in his back, and one blue whistler we learn struck him in the back of the head. Of course it was purely accidental, and we are glad to learn that the Squire is not seriously hurt."

Fredericktown Plaindealer: "Charles Duhuy, who has been wanted at Oran, Scott county, on charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses and who it will be remembered escaped from a Scott county official here while under arrest, was again captured Sunday. A party of fishermen were on the St. Francois river near Cedar Bottom that day and learned that he was in that vicinity. A hunt was improvised in order to approach him without suspicion. When the party got in sight of him he started to get out of the way. One of the party called out to him asking him about their dogs. He stopped to answer the question which permitted the party to come up and arrest him. He was taken to Scott county the same night."

Mortgages and Deeds of Trust.

The following is a new enactment relative to sales under mortgages and deeds of trust, passed by the late Legislature, and now a law of the State:

SECTION 1. All sales of real estate under a power of sale contained in any mortgage or deed of trust, executed after this act takes effect, shall be made in the county where the land to be sold is situated, and not less than twenty days' notice of such sale shall be given, whether so provided in such mortgage or deed of trust or not.

SEC. 2. Such notice shall set forth the date, and book, and page of the record of such mortgage or deed of trust, the grantors, the time, terms and place of sale, and a description of the property to be sold, and shall be given by advertisement inserted for at least twenty times, and continued to the day of sale, in some daily newspaper in counties having cities of twenty thousand inhabitants or more, and in all other counties such notice shall be given by advertisement in some weekly newspaper published in such county, for three successive weeks, the last insertion to be not more than one week prior to the day of sale; and if there be no newspaper published in such county or city, such notice shall be published in the nearest newspaper thereto in this state; provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the giving of any shorter notice than that required by such mortgage or deed of trust.

A Heroic Boy.

From the village of Lititz, Pa., comes a story which equals in tragic incident and heroic effort the wildest creation of fiction. Last Thursday, Mrs. Hiram Pfautz, laboring under religious excitement, augmented by family trials, conceived the resolution of drowning herself and seven children. Only five of them, however, could be prevailed upon to go with her to the mill pond, the mother pretending it was her object to hunt flowers along the waterside. The eldest of the children was a boy of ten years. They sat down near the breast of the dam, and she told this boy to gather a stick lying on the ground near the dam. Just as he had his back turned, and was bending down, the mother followed and quickly pushed the little fellow into the water. Quickly catching hold of the other three, she threw them in the water, and with the baby in her arms she, too, sprang in. The boy of 10 was a good swimmer and first helped out his brother, aged 7. In the meanwhile the girl, aged 9, was drowning, and the boy brought her out. He then went in to save his mother and the two children. By superhuman efforts he succeeded in getting out his mother and the baby. The mother screamed that she wanted to die. The baby was still alive in its mother's arms. The son then dove in to get out the little girl, aged 3, but by the time he found her she was almost dead. He rolled the body and tried to bring it back to life. The mother sat crying and begged the boy to run home for his father. She said she would wait there with the two children until he got back. The boy refused. He took his sister, aged 9, and the brother, aged 7, with him because he was afraid the mother might throw them in again. He also wanted to take the baby along, but this she would not give up. The three children then went back to the farm house for the father. Mr. Pfautz was at home and quickly drove back to the dam, but when he got there she and the babe were not to be found. A handkerchief lay on the ground. The flood gates were opened and the water was drawn off. As it rushed out the bodies of Mrs. Pfautz, her baby and the child came through. As soon as her three children had gone back, the woman must have seized the dead child and with her babe jumped into the water.

Our Norman J. Not a Turveydrop.

It is always a pleasure to soothe away a sorrow from the anxious breast of the Hon. John C. New of Indianapolis; and indeed it is a duty to keep that noble old Hoosier patriot from breaking down under the melancholia which has weighed upon him since November last.

The Hon. John C. New grasps too freely the oily forelock of Time in asking Mr. Colman, Missouri's Commissioner of Agriculture, to "be kind enough to state what Mr. Colman is here for." It is too early to answer such a question.

Possible: Mr. Colman may be "here" for some purpose remotely connected with the promotion of agriculture. It seems certain he is not here as a rival of his predecessor, the Hon. George Bombast Loring. Mr. Colman may or may not turn out to be, as he ought to be, a hayseed and a hawbuck; but it seems clear that he isn't a Turveydrop.

A Remarkable Escape.

Mrs. Mary A. Dalley, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was afflicted for several years with Bronchitis, during which time the best physicians could give no relief. Her life was despaired of, until in last October she procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, when immediate relief was felt, and by continuing its use for a short time she was completely cured, gaining in flesh 50 lbs in a few months. Free Trial Bottles of this certain cure for all throat and lung diseases at P. H. Crisp's Drug Store.
